Attention Medicine Applicants!!

MedWise is a group of Queens University Belfast medical students who endured the trials and tribulations of UCAS applications. For this reason, they have decided to help prospective medical students whose shoes they were once in with medical school interviews and personal statements. They will be offering 1:1 online sessions, working through a specialised question bank and carrying out mock interview sessions with lots of valuable feedback. Their goal is to help post-16 students with their experiences and expertise in this area. MedWise are offering a FREE taster session; following the sessions if students are happy with the level of tuition they can sign up for 1:1 sessions for a reduced price of £25 per session.
